"NIL PALE AUDEAM, NIL VERI NON AUDAM DICERE."—(Cicero.)

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10th, 1862

The Capital at a Discount.

The Provincial Deputies have justified the "Tribuna" promise of an overwhelming majority against Dr. Costa's project of federalizing this province. The debate was stormy, epithets of "traitor" and "conspirator" were freely exchanged, the bar was crowded with an infuriate mob who at times prevented all discussion, and the aspect of the Chamber was like that of the St. Cloud Assembly when condemning the First Consul. The battle was happily confined to words, and it is a proof of the good sense of the crowd that their conflicting opinions did not lead to any disagreeable results. The scene was only different from the late session of the Senate, in so much as the great bulk of the Deputies was unanimous in rejecting the project of Congress.

This may be termed the first and only victory of the Opposition: the votes were 32 to 9. If Congress had calculated on such an issue for a measure supported by three-fourths of their body, they might have spared themselves the trouble of discussing it; and if they did not know the sense of the local Chambers they must be considered as working in the dark. In any event they are bound to explain themselves, and make the country aware of their intended policy. If we are to have the new Presidency lodged in "a chateau en Espagne," there is little hope for the country. Already we have lost the Ministers of government and Finance: we are assured that Gen. Mitre and D. Marcos Paz refuse to accept the supreme commands, until we have the solution of capitalizing B. Ayres.

The provincial federalization being exploded by an authority whose competency is accepted by submitting the project to their discussion, we have still the idea of capitalizing the municipal bounds. To this the Chambers seem also opposed. This is what the French call a cul-de-sac; the Constitution offers no possible escape from the difficulty. It is then the duty of the People to invent one.

Latest from Europe.

Arrival of the last Packet.

The Saintonge arrived in Montevideo at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, one of her pistons got broken on her voyage outward and she was unable to leave Rio before the 1st inst.

England.

The American War and the Princess Alice's marriage fill the English papers. After her marriage with the Princess Louis of Hesse, they repaire t to St Clair, the residence of Colonel and Lady Catherine Vernon Harcourt.

Lord Palmerston and Mr Cobden, have had another fight in Parliament, on the question of National defences; but the Premier gave him an awful drubbing.

The Lord Mayor has entertained the Viceroy of Egypt at a splendid banquet. The Prince of Wales was not present, and many ask why.

The Wimbledon rifle match has come off with great eclat. The Lords beat the Commons, and Middlesex has beaten the whole world for the Queen's prize, which was won by Mr Pixley of the Victoria rifles.

Mrs Yelverton has been decided by the Irish tribunals to be a married woman, whilst the Scotch judge decides right the reverse.

The motion in Parliament to interfere in the American question, has been withdrawn, after a prolonged discussion.

Her Majesty the Queen will shortly go to Belgium

The Princess Alice and the Prince Louis of Hesse have left England for Darmstadt

The House of Commons is about to adopt prompt measures for the relief of the distressed operatives in Lancashire.

The English funds have been without the slightest alteration the only quotation of Consols for money and account being again 92 7/8 to 93. Bank Stock closed at 233 to 237 Reduced and New Three per Cents. 93 1/8 to 1/4; india Stock. 225 to 227 India Five per Cents., 107 7/8 to 108 1/8; Rupee paper, 103 1/2 to 104, and 110 3/4 to 110 1/4; India Bonds, 24s to 28s, and Exchequer-bills, 17s. to 20s, premium.

The discount-market is without alteration. Opinion is divided as to the probability of a reduction of the Bank rate to-morrow, in the Stock-Exchange there are few borrowers even at 1 per cent.

Italy.

Victor Emmanuel has been recognised king of Italy by Russia and Prussia, to the great satisfaction of the nation. Garibaldi is making a great noise at Palermo, where he pronounced a violent speech against Napoleon III and his occupation of Rome. He has even threatened the French with another "Sicilian Vespers," and the local authorities have not attempt ed to moderate his fury. The Cabinet of Turin is answer to some question, in Parliament, denied all complicity with the acts or declarations of the damagogue, and avowed an alliance with France as their best friend. The Ministry even promised to depose the authorities who were present at Garibaldi's harangue, as wanting in respect to the person of Louis Napoleon. The hero of Calatafimi was recruiting numbers of filibusters in Sicily, and it was rumored that he meditated an invasion of the Papal States, which would be a more daring attempt than even his landing at Marsala. Flying reports speak of some encounters in which the French troops have completely annihilated the Sicilian pirates. Lisbon papers give the following telegram:

Turin 27th inst. Garibaldi continues his philippics against Napoleon: Tampico is blockaded by some French men-o-war. The Pope is gone to spend the autumn at Tivoli [16 miles from Rome.]

Garibaldi in Sicily.

In reply to an address from the University of Sicily Garibaldi said:—"I thank you; it was impossible for me to doubt of your affection for me: I consider you as my children. You are students, and so do I. You look upon me, and I rely upon you. I am tired of this state of inaction in which we are left, this inert life devoid of glory, and I cannot bear it any longer."

The following is an extract from a speech made by Garibaldi on his arrival at Palermo :—"Napoleon continues to keep up the running sore of Italy: he makes Rome a den of thieves, who only forth from their lair and infest the Italian provinces. I must speak my whole mind to you. Napoleon the autocrat of France can never be our friend. Every Italian who has been so far misled as to believe in his friendship must abandon the delusion. When I speak to you of Bonaparte, I mean no reflection on the French people, which, like ourselves, stands in need of liberty. That people is today, unfortunately, trodden down by despotism. You must make a distinction between a people and its tyrant; all people are brethren."

The Federal Assembly has elected Fornchod President, and Dubs vice-president of the Confederation for 1863.

Turkey.

The existence of the Ottoman Empire is again threatened. France has entered into a secret alliance with Russia, and England fears that the Emperors are about to divide Turkey between them. The Hospodar of Servia has ordered a levy of the militar, the destruction of the Turkish forts, and expulsion of the sultan's troops. The war in Montenegro continues to rage without intermission: a private letter from Corfu states that 300 English artillerymen have been sent to help in Omar Pasha to crush the insurgents. Half the city of Constantinople has been burnt to the ground, probably the work of incendiaries: in the Perquarter 3000 houses have been consumed, besides 800 in another part.

Disturbances in Syria.

The Debats contains a letter from Constantinople, which reports some disturbances in Syria:—Advices received from Damascus to the 15th June, state that some Bedouins of the Ledjs, to the number of twenty-seven, led by the Sheik Faissal, had, during the night, fallen upon one of the villages of Rachen committing depredations, and imposing a contribution of 20,000 piastres on the principal Christian and Druse sheiks of that locality. The Caimakan of Rachen, on being informed of the fact, sent immediately all the regular soldiers at his disposal to dislodge the bandits from their houses, which they occupied in the village, and, after a combat which lasted nearly two hours, the troops succeeded in putting them to flight. Notwithstanding the activity of the soldiers, these audacious wanderers, who are thought to belong to the band of the famous brigand Eb Khitan from which the country has just happily been delivered, had nevertheless be gone to commit acts of violence on the inhabitants. In addition to a certain quantity of booty which they succeded in obtaining, they murdered the Christian Hassem and his son, and one of the most important Druse Sheiks of the country, named Athrash, the same who had demanded the assistance of the authorities. Although the Ottoman soldiers remained masters of the village in the morning, after having to deplore the loss of an officer and three men, the inhabitants expressed the fear of successfully evacuating their habitation in the face of reprisals on the part of the Bedouins, who had left behind five of their band dead and two wounded, threatening to return in larger numbers to avenge their defeat. Accordingly, almost all the Druses and Christian, repaired to Damascus and Rachea under the escort of the soldiers. In concert with the imperial commissioner, his excellency Halim Pacha immediately sent troops from Damascus not only to the village, but also to all the places where it was to be feared that the villagers might be molested, and at the last dates order was restored in all the neighbourhood."

Latest from U. States.

We have dates from the States up to the 14th July. The Federal army, it appears, has suffered a series of defeats.

After a prolonged struggle, of seven days' duration, the Northerns were obliged to desist attacking Richmond, owing to great disasters suffered elsewhere. McClellan retired with his army, 5 or 6 leagues from Richmond, covering his flanks with gun boats, & forming entrenchments around his position.

Beauregard it appears had concentrated all his forces amounting to 180,000 in Richmond against which McClellan could only muster 95,000. At the first charge of the Southerners, the whole division of McClellan was completely outflanked and at the moment, the whole federal army was in imminent danger of total destruction but owing to a strategical movement of McClellan the Northerners were enabled to retire in good order, and occupy a more advantageous position where they were enabled to receive succour by water.

President Lincoln went in person to inspect McClellan's position, and returned thanks to the soldiers for the courage and valour they displayed in the late awful battle; he declared also his entire confidence in his generals and his firm conviction in the ultimate success of the Northern cause.

The losses cannot be exactly arrived at, but between killed wounded and missing, the Northerners have lost more than 20,000 men. The Southern general, Magruder, it was reported had been taken prisonor, but it was also rumored that the Northern general and his army were all taken prisoners.

The Northerners have also suffered defeat at James Island, in front of Charleston, and the Southern forces were already threatening Port Royal. The greatest excitement prevailed in Washington and New York, and the Bankers and merchants of New York were unanimously in favor of peace President Lincoln, however, had made another call for 300,000. The Bill for emancipating the slaves in the middle states had been rejected by the representatives of these states.

By a Lisbon Telegram we have news from New York to the 16th July.

The position of the belligerents is unchanged, but the great depreciation of all classes of American securities, leave no doubt that McClellan's position is most critical.

Burnside was herrying across the country by forced marches to reach McClellan in time to join him before another engagement but it was feared that Beauregard would not lose the opportunity which at present offered, to fall on McClellan, with all his forces before he could be reinforced.

It is rumored that McClellan proposed to capitulate on terms and that the Southerners peremptorily refused.

The following telegram, received from Lloyd's, London was posted in the Underwriters' Rooms, at the Liverpool Exchange, on the 18th:—

"QUEENSTOWN, July 17, 10.30 p.m —Reported by Glasgow, from New York, 5th July, Brings private news by letter received from there before the sailing of the packet, which Lloyd's agents believe reliable from the source whence it is obtained.

"Federal army retreating to Fortress Monroe. McClellan got on board the gunboat Galena, after having proposed conditional surrender. The others refused any capitulation. Generals Lee and Jackson in rear of Federals; Price opposite. General Lee refuses any terms. Goodman and Nicl afterwards arrived, wounded, at Fortress Monroe. Report Stuart killed and Reynolds in the hands of the Confederates.

The subjoined telegram was also received on the 18th by a Liverpool shipowner:—

"Mr. Pettrean, a cabin passenger on board the Glasgow, reports having received the following information half an hour before sailing:—

"FORTRESS MONROE, July 2.—Generals Carman and Meade, Federals, arrived here wounded, and report as follows:—Generals McClellan and Reynolds's divisions in the hands of the Confederates. McClellan on board the gunboat Galena. Jackson in rear of the Federal army, and Price opposite. General Lee refuses to give any terms of capitulation, and demands an unconditional surrender."

The Liverpool Underwriters have received the following telegram: —

"The Confederate brig Marshall with naval stores, from Liverpool, was burnt by the Confederates, at Georgetown, on the 22nd May, as the Federal gunboat was going up the river

Nothing of importance from Richmond. M'Clellan had another skirmish with the Confederates on the 4th which resulted, it is said, in the total defeat of the Confederates and capture of 1000 men and 3 batteries.

Report of General Lorencez.

Paris, July 17th.

The "Moniteur" of this morning publishes the following report from General Lorencez, dated June 11:—"Our communications with Vera Cruz have been reestablished. A portion of the troops of Marquez have assured the maintenance of this communication since the 20th May Zaragoza is posted between Cumbres and Teamaluca with 10,000 men, but has not yet made an attack. I have thrown up entrenchments at Orizaba, which protect us from a sudden assault. Similar works have been constructed at Cordova. Marquez has warned me that Zaragoza will attack to-morrow."

The "Moniteur" also announces that M Rouher will fulfill the duties of Minister of the Interior during the absence of M. de Persigny.

The Custom House & Police.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Sir—

As directing the only recognized organ of public opinion obliige me with a place in your column, for the following suggestions, "pro bono publico," relative to the custom-house and police.

Amongst the various nominees for the collectorship of the former, the only one of the persons indicated, up to the present moment, is Dr. Francisco Balbin, whose qualifications for such office are so well known, that any further reference to them is superfluous; but as he has so often served his country, without any other emolument than his country's good, it is naturally assumed that he would not now accept a public appointment, unless accompanied with such remuneration as a man of his class may justly consider himself entitled to.

Consequently, if Government wish to secure a collector of the proper stamp, it must render the appointment worth holding, and the trading community, the real bone and sinew of the country [Dn Mariano Varela, Dn Carlos Damico, & tutti quanti, to the contrary, notwithstanding], would s-e with satisfaction Dn Francisco Balbin, Dn Constant Sinita Maria, or Dn Mariano Billinghurst, occupying a post in departmental administration, for which any one of these gentlemen is eminently qualified.

And although Dn. Mariano Billinghurst, with a degree of modesty quite out of place in an auctioneer, is content to be considered merely a 'sabalo' in the social scale, I will, as a compatriot of the D. e. Bellinghauseus, of which ancient house he is not an ignoble scion, permit myself to remind him that, by such an assumption, he is unjust to his Father, who form the most considerable portion of that community to which I have alluded. Dn Mariano Billinghurst should not forget that he has English blood in his veins, and if he insists upon putting forward piscatorial analogies, should never claim less than to be estimated 'a Triton among minnows.

The only man who had the English pluck to step out of the ranks of his regiment, not another comrade in which had the courage to support him, and protest against the suicidal policy of the Government at that time (for which, by the way, a brother auctioneer, it is said, was very anxious to have him shot), is evidently equal to any situation in which independence of character, integrity of purpose, moral courage and common sense are requisite, and without in the least degree insinuating a thought of disagreement to our present worthy head of the State, it would be a great day for Buenos Ayres if the next constitutional Governor was embodied in the corpulent person of our esteemed and noisy friend, Don Mariano.

Mr. Billinghurst's appointment to the Collectorship [if he would accept, it; would be us just and complimentary to the commercial body as that of Mr Balbus is Vejo (should he not refuse it) would be the reverse.

For the head of the police department, I would suggest Dn Leonardo Pereira, Dn Julian Huergo, or Dn Presidino Puyerredon, and of none of whom may it be said, 'Se fue 6 se halla bail y volvio a quedarse.' If one of the above gentlemen presides at the sign of the cock, the proverb will be falsified in matters of political regime, la oido cantar el gallo, pero no sabe adonde.

Your obedient servant,

NEMO.

DERNIERES NOUVELLES D'EUROPE

Terrible bataille aux Etats Unit.

LA "SAINTONGE"

Nous pouvons enfin annoncer l'arrivée de ce paquebot des messageries Impériales, dont le retard a été causé par la rupture d'un piston lors de son voyage d'allerde Montevideo à Rio.

Il est parti sur des nouvelles suivantes que nous nous empressons de communiquer à nos abonnés.

ITALIE.

Après la reconnaissance faite par la Prusse et la Russie du nouveau Royaume, l'incident qui a produit le plus de sensation pour les conséquences qui peuvent en résulter, c,est un discours violent contre l'Empereur des Français et l'occupation de Rome, prononcé à Palerme par Garibaldi.

Dans la chaleur de son improvisation, il s'est laissé entraîner jusqu'à parler de nouvelles séparations, de cédé a un lieu en présence des autorités principales de l'endroit, qui a ce qu'il paraît n'ont pas protesté avec assez d'energie, contre la liberté de langage du chef populaire.

A l'occassion de ce discours, le Gouvernement a été interpellé dans les Chambres, mais celui-ci dans le but d'éviter avec prudence tout ce qui pourrait amener une rupture. a repoussé toute solidarité avec les actes et les paroles de Garibaldi et a déclaré en même temps, que son allièe naturelle étoit la France, et qu'elle continueraît à l'être, promettant en outre de destituer les autorités qui avaient laissé prononcer le fameux discours, après une enquête préalable.

Cependant Garibaldi a en Sicile beaucoup de prosélytes aussi exaltés et aussi impatients que lui-même. Il s'occupoe de recruter du monde et l'on craint qu'il ne tente dans les Etats du Pape, une expedition aussi audacieuse que celle qu'il fit dans cette ile.

A ce sujet, on faisait courir des nouvel's d'invasions ausitot effectuées que repoussées par les forces françaises.

Les journaux de Lisbonne de dernière date, publient un bulletin télégraphi que ainsi conçu:

Turin 27. Garibaldi continue à prononcer des discours dans lesquels il attaque de nouveau l'Empereur Napoléon.

Tampico est bloqué pour quelques navires français.

Le Pape devait partir pour Tivoli

SUISSE

L'assemblée fédérale Suisse a élu Fornerold Président et Dubs vice-Président de la Confédération pour l'année 1863.

AMERIQUE DU NORD.

Les nouvelles de l'Amérique du Nord arrivent au 14 Juillet: l'armée fédérale a souffert de sérieux revers obligée de se retirer devant Charleston, Murfreebourg et Nashville pendus après y avoir laissé un régiment entier; perdu aussi Baton Rouge capitale de la Louisiane avec 1500 prisonniers, les fédéraux ont dû abandonner l'attaque de Richemond après sept jours d'un combat sanglant et acharné. Ils se sont retirés à 5 ou 6 lieues vers la rivière Yames où protégés par leurs canonnières, ils ont pu se retrancher et faire face aux Confédérés.

Il paraît que le Général en Chef de l'armée du Sud en concentrant ses forces à Richmond, parvint à réunir 180 mille hommes contre lesquelles ceux du Nord ne purent opposer que 95 mille.

Au premier choc, la division du Général McClelan fut enveloppée, en perdant un grand nombre de soldats et de pieces d'artillerie, et pour un moment toute l'armée fédérale fut sur le point d'etre détruite.

Mais grâces à quelques mouvements stratégiques bien combinés, elle put opérer en retraite en bon ordre et elle parvint à occuper des positions plus avantageuses.

Le President Lincoln a été en personne visiter les troupes dans leur nouveau campement: il a donné des éloges aux soldats pour la valeur déployée par eux, en déclarant qu'il continuait à avoir la même confiance dans les chefs et dans le triomphe de la bonne cause.

Les pertes en hommes sont tres difficiles à calculer: on varie dans l'evaluation de 10 à 30 mille hommes. Des autres points les nouvelles sont encore confuses. On dit que le Général Confédéré Mograder a été fait prisonnier, mais on parle en même temps de la capture de deux Généraux fédéraux avec les forces qu'ils avaient sous leurs ordres.

Le Président Lincoln avait appelé 300 mille hommes sous les armes: une grande agitation provoquée par les dernières défaites, régnait à Washington.

New-York 16 Juillet.

Il n'y a aucune nouveauté sur la position des belligérants près de Richemond; mais comme la baisse des fonds continue, on suppose que la situation de McClellan doit être très précaire; Burnside qui est en marche pour le secourir, n'arrivera pas probablement à temps pour le soutenir dans sa position de Rio James.

FRANCE

On parle d'une alliance en tre la France, la Prusse et la Russie; et quelques journaux français et anglais en parlaient comme d'un fait consommé, hésitant cependant à en préciser le but.

L'empereur Napoléon se trouvait aux eaux de Vichy. En passant par Bourges, il a manifesté l'intention d'établir là, au cœur de la France, un grand établissement militaire, et répondant aux félicitations de l'évêque, S,M.a dit que rien ne le détournerait de la marche suivie jusqu'à ce jour dans la question romaine.

Le Général Forey devait s'embarquer dans les premiers jours du mois d'Août pour le Mexique, avec un corps d'armée que la Presse évalue à 30,000 hommes,

MEXIQUE

Les nouvelles sont insignifiantes; nos forces se maintiennent avec fermeté dans leurs positions, sans rien entreprendre jusqu'à l'arrivée des renforts attendus de France.

Alors au lieu de nous maintenir sur la défensive, nous marcherons en avant, et bientôt le drapeau tricolore flottera sur les murs de Mexico.

Tampico est bloqué par quelques navires de guerre français.

Le "Moniteur" publie les nouvelles suivantes du Mexique.

Les nouvelles de la Vera-Cruz, arrivées ce soir, vont jusqu'au 15 juin. celles d'Orizaba sont du 11.A cette date, le corps. expéditionnaire français occupait toujours les mêmes positions et son état sanitaire ne laissait rien à désirer. Le général Douay était arrivé à Orizaba le 10, avec un convoi de 400 voitures et il a dû partir le lendemain pour aller prendre le commandement des troupes cantonnées à Cordova.

Un second convoi emportant trente-cinq jours de vivres était reparti le 8 de la Vera-Cruz. Vingt charriots de ce convoi, qui était escorté par les voltaires de la Vera-Cruz, ont été pris par les Mexicains.

Le général Marquez, à la tête de 1,500 hommes, est arrivé le 15 à la Vera-Cruz, venant d'Orizaba, où il se disparaît à retourner : consommant pour se réunir au général de Lorencez. Il est accompagné toujours des mêmes dévouements et sa santé matérielle ne laissait rien à désirer. Le commandant Roze attendait à chaque instant l'arrivée du troisième convoi parti avec le nouveau matériel et "l'imphigène," qui leur apportent trois cents matelots.

Une lettre particulière de la Vera-Cruz, du 14 juin, nous donne des détails intéressans sur l'attaque du convoi parti le 8 juin pour Orizaba.

Ce convoi, escorté par deux volontaires mexicains, se composait de 250 voitures portant trente-cinq jours de vivres pour le corps expéditionnaire. Il était attaqué au dessus de chiquihuite par une division de l'armée de Zaragoza. L'ennemi a porté tous ses efforts sur le centre du convoi, qu'il voulait couper. Il a échoué dans cette tentative. Il a alors attaqué la queue du convoi et brisé à coups de cloche les roues des dernières voitures, au nombre de vingt. Ces voitures ne pouvant continuer leur marche sont tombées en tre ses mains. Ce fa aire est sans importance. La lut e du reste, a été vive de part et d'autre.

Le général Douay, qui commande à Cordova ville située entre la Vera-Cruz et Orizaba, est chargé de la direction des convois, qui seront escortés à l'avenir pour moitié par des troupes françaises et par des troupes mexicaines alliées.

Nous ajouterons que le corps expéditionnaire a reçu ou va recevoir par New-York, par la Havane et par la France deux cents, des vivres en suffisante quantité pour pouvoir attendre l'arrivée des renforts, qui partiront prochainement sous le commandement du général Forey.

—" L'expédition du Mexique, qui était toujours prête à partir et ne partait pas, semble être entrée depuis hier dans une nouvelle phase qui dénote un appareillage, si non précipité, du moins très prochain.

"Des instructions communiquées en main à un des commandants de la flotte de transport leur prescrivent d'embarquer de nouvelles approvisionnements nécessaires pour compléter quatre mois de vivres pour les equipages et deux mois de vivres pour les passagers, dont l'effectif primitif devra être établi sur chaque vaisseau d'après les bilfres suivants:

"Vaisseau la Souveraine, 1,500 hommes; le Flearus, 1,000; le Prince-Jérôme, 1,000; le Fontenoy, 1,000; transport Pariézy, 200; transport la Mayenne, 350; plus un millier de chevaux ou mulets répartin entre tous ces navires.

"La corvette la Chaptal vient de recevoir l'ordre de se tenir prête à partir au premier signal. Ce navire porte des dépêches au Mexique et recevra à bord, comme passagers, nel officiers, trente rationnaires et neuf chevaux.—Gras."

Demain, nous continuerons la publication de nos autres nouvelles d'Europe,

CORRESPONDANCE.

Buenos Ayres 7 Septembre 1862.

Monsieur le Redacteur:

Les journaux portefeus ont si fort et si souvent répété que la guerre actuelle entre la France et le Mexique était pour la première de ces puissances, un guerre impie, injuste, fratricide, infame, enfin epithetes ont été prononcées avec tant d'aplomb, avec l'apparence d'une conviction si profonde que je me suis demandé s'il n'y avait pas quelque chose de fondé, de vrai dans leur indignation. Lorsque de la part de la part des grandes nations européennes vis à vis des petites républiques hispano américaines leur propension à profiter de la faiblesse d'un ennemi, appauvri et ruiné par la guerre civile, voilà le texte dérisoire de leurs plaintes.

Je veux d'examiner si ces griefs sont fondés, il jeuns faut toucher à une question délicate. Ce qui selon les publicistes de ce pays met le comble à l'indignation de toute l'Amérique Espagnole, c'est que la pensée du gouvernement français. sous intention formelle, est de substituer au système républicain démocratique, qui forme le constitutionnelle avec un prince de la maison d'Autriche. Cette intention qui est à moment sérieusement condamnée par les démocrates de France est-elle avérée? Le cabinet des Tuileries manifeste au contraire la manière la plus formelle, l'intention d'aider les véritables patriotes du Mexico à la reorganisation nationale de leur magnifique pays, tandis qu'il n'a jamais officiellement annoncé celle de fonder une monarchie Mexicaine. Nommons un prince européen quelque soit la dynastie à laquelle il appartient l'amour propre de toutes les républiques hispano américaines. Ne serait il pas plus juste de ne voir dans cette intimation grandiose de la politique française un contre poids aux prétentions de l'Espagne qui depuis longtemps, avait presqu'officiellement avoué soit, un projet de monarchie avec un prince de la maison de Bourbon, soit une vice royauté avec le général Prim. La France l'aliquant un peu contrariée semblait par le nouveau Mexicain était elle aussi chose qu'exigeaient les formes de la plus exquise courtoisie envers l'Espagne, le retrait de ses prétentions pour Mr. de Montemolin ou pour le comte de Reus!

La retraite des troupes espagnoles et anglaises si diversement interprétée par les correspondants de la Tribune et du Nacional loin de confirmer les bruits du royaume mexicains semblent au contraire les démentir.

Quoi! l'Espagne loins bénévolement à la France le soin de ses affaires au moment même d'une dissidence! Comment retire-t-elle ses troupes, lorsque, suivant la même politique que l'Angleterre elle peut compter sur l'appui de celle-ci non pour soutenir le prétendant Espagnol, mais pour rejeter le grand duc autrichien! Non, elle ne se serait point désignée en confiant les intérêts de ses nationaux aux français, et la France était devenue, notoirement, antagoniste. N'est-il pas evident dailleurs que pas plus le grand duc Maximilien que le général Prim, qui personne n'en doute, souriesait déjà la pensée de changer sa vice royauté en une royauté bien complète, ne pouvaient convenir à l'Angleterre, comme roi du Mexique? La nation anglaise n'est pas de celles qui se retirent sans murmurer lors que leurs vues sont déçues; son parlement est encore le modèle des assemblées nationales, pour la liberté de discussion.

Il reste à examiner si la guerre que la France fait au Mexique, est injuste et impie.

Il a été trop répété qu'entre les grandes nations de l'Europe la France est celle qui a le plus de propension à abuser de sa force, et à dégénérer son épée sous le plus léger prétexte, si ce reproche a été mérité, ce fut à cinq époque lointains C'est dans le pays que nous habitons plus que par tout ailleurs que l'on peut affirmer que la modération de notre patrie excède celle de toutes les autres nations Européennes Nous avons vu le gouvernement de Général Rosas n'ait commis ni laissé impunément commettre d'injustices, de prevarications, de déuis de justices, de spoliations' de crimes envers nos malheureux compatriotes,de mystifications, de trahisons à la parole donnée, de mauvaise foi constante envers nos agents diplomatiques avant de leuer la France bien connus du gouvernement de roi Louis Philippe au point de le décider à bloquer les ports de la Plata!

Nos griefs envers le Méxique sont plus anciens encore; permettez moi de citer, ici en quelqu'eveil au 1838 un homme d'une grande distinction et d'une justesse de vues reconnu dans l'Amérique.

"L'exposé des griefs de la France contre le Méxique contenu dans l'ultimatum" de Mr. le baron Deffaudis n'est encore que le tableau abrégé des injustes sans nombre dont les troubles civils, les haines avengles de la populace, l'indifference calculée des gouvernements ont trop souvent rendu les etrangers victimes. C'est disons le hautement une question d'intérêt Européen et de civilisation sur la quelle il serait impossible que tout le monde ne fut pas d'accord."
